

Distant, Remote and Absent Healing

Distant healing, also known as remote, long distance or absent healing has been practiced in the Far East for centuries. In more modern times many modalities of distant healing are being recognized and practiced in the West. Studies have shown that people suffering ill health when prayed for had better outcomes than those who were not.

Some scientists recognise what mystics from many traditions have said for millennium that we are all connected and that we are not separate. Quantum Physics may provide some answers why remote healing works. A research team in Paris discovered that under certain circumstances subatomic particles such as electrons are able to instantaneously communicate with each other regardless of the distance separating them.

Some physicists believe the reason subatomic particles are able to remain in contact with one another regardless of the distance separating them is not because they are sending some sort of mysterious signal back and forth, but because their separateness is an illusion; at some deeper level of reality such particles are not individual entities, but are actually extensions of the same fundamental something. If the apparent separateness of subatomic particles is illusory, it means that at a deeper level of reality all things in the universe are infinitely interconnected; and it is because we are all connected that remote healing energy can get transferred over long distances

Distant absent healing is available when it is not possible for us to visit the client or for the client to come for healing. It is possible to transmit healing energy over any distance and this form of healing has proved to be very successful for humans and animals alike.

Every night we read out the names listed in our healing book and ask that they receive healing energy. If you would like to be added to this list please email us